

FRANKFURT
9TH EURO FINANCE WEEK
13-17 NOVEMBER 2006

MiFID Summit

15 and 16 November 2006

Congress Center Messe Frankfurt
Frankfurt am Main, Germany

In Co-operation with:

Dear Ladies and Gentlemen,

The Market in Financial Instruments Directive (MiFID) is high on everyone's agenda, at least everyone who is anyone in the world of European financial markets.

The European Banking Federation (EBF) stands at the forefront of industry consultation on the project. We are therefore delighted to seize the opportunity of the EURO FINANCE WEEK to host the MiFID Summit on 15 November in Frankfurt.

MiFID has been and remains a high priority for the EBF as we have moved from the framework directive, through the implementing measures to arguably the most important phase of pan-European implementation.

MiFID will change the landscape of banking as we know it. It will affect the whole banking community and its implementation will generate the most far-reaching reform ever undertaken in a major financial market. Most companies involved in trading in financial instruments and most advisory services businesses will be affected.

MiFID may well prove to be difficult for financial markets to absorb and implement at the same time as other significant measures, such as the Capital Requirements Directive. But it cannot – and will not – be avoided. On the contrary, banks should treat it as an opportunity to develop the full potential the framework offers.

What impact will MiFID have on our businesses, how can it best be implemented, and what lies ahead, after MiFID?

We invite you to come and listen to experts, to share your concerns and to ask questions of specialists from the banks, markets, service providers, supervisors and the political world on the occasion of the MiFID Summit hosted by the EBF.

We look forward to meeting you in Frankfurt.
